Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

The applicant's information disclosure statements dated 1/24/2006, 6/20/2006, and 7/12/2006 has been considered and a copy has been placed in the file.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. U.S. patent to Clark et al. disclose a dual door operating mechanism having two handles, pairs of stationary and movable hinges having knuckles, and an operating mechanism to independently open the door from two different pivotal positions similar to that of the applicant's invention. U.S. patents to Rosenfeld, Fischer et al. Yamada, Hashemnia, and Lee et al. disclose a door pivotal about two axis similar to that of the applicant's invention.

In the abstract, line 5, "02" has been changed to -92--.

Claims 1-4 are allowable.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the recitation of a dual-opening mechanism of a door comprising first and second pairs of hinges having first and second pairs of stationary hinge parts each having a hinge knuckle and attached to opposite sides of a casing, first and second pairs of moving hinge parts releasable from the stationary hinge parts respectively, first and second pairs of hinge pins having one pair removable inserted into the hinge knuckles of respective pairs of stationary and movable hinge parts, first and second hinge pin drive mechanisms moving the hinge pins linearly into and out of engagement with the knuckles of the stationary and movable hinge parts respectively, first and second handles each linked to one of the first and second drive mechanisms, and the door is opened and closed by moving a first set of hinge pins into and out of engagement with the respective knuckles wherein the opposite set of hinge pins provide pivotal movement of the door is seen as an unobvious improvement over the art of record.
